

Connecting Video Sources

If you connect three video sources such as VCRs, laser disc players, or DVD (digital video disc) players to your receiver, you can use the receiver to select each video source. You can also use the receiver to easily record from the video sources to the source connected to VCR/TAPE 1.

You can connect up to six external program sources to your receiver.

You can connect up to six external program sources to your receiver.

